Adenauer Talks With Opposition on Berlin Crisis

BY SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today held one of his rare meetings with political opponents, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, to discuss the Berlin situation.

They met in Bonn while a U.S. military train running to West Berlin was delayed for an hour by what Communist East German officials called a broken rail.

The U.S. Army accepted the Communist explanation — mindful that the incident was similar to those used by the Soviet Union to impose the 1948-49 blockade of West Berlin. At that time all land routes to the isolated city were closed for "technical reasons."

The Western Powers may use the six-months Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has given them to leave West Berlin to review demands for the unification of Germany by free elections.

Informants in the Communist-surrounded city said diplomats in Western capitals were discussing a proposal to call for a big East-West conference, either on the summit or the foreign ministers level.

Publisher in Protest to Write-in Votes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The publisher of a political weekly newspaper here plans to protest the write-in victory of Dr. Dale Alford over Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) in the Nov. 4 general election to a House Elections Committee.

John F. Wells, owner and editor of the Arkansas Recorder, said yesterday a formal protest will be filed with the committee before its next meeting Dec. 15.

Wells said the complaint would be based on "election irregularities" but he declined to elaborate. Wells recently protested Alford's use of stickers, which eliminated the necessity of writing his name on a ballot, to state election officials but the complaint was rejected.

Apparently the complaint will cover use of stickers and the allegation that they were passed out inside polling places in violation of law.

Alford, marshalling vigorous segregationist support, announced as a write-in candidate against Hays only seven days before the election. He picked up the last backing of Gov. Orval B. Faubus and beat Hays by about 1,200 votes after a spirited campaign.

Alford attacked Hays as "too moderate" on the school integration issue and he got solid backing in Pulaski County where Little Rock's four high schools have been closed by Faubus as an anti-integration measure.

Hays has said he would not personally contest the election but added that he would not disavow any protest made by another.

Wells yesterday released text of a letter he received from Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-N.Y.) a member of the House Elections Committee. The Keating wrote that the committee would investigate if it received a valid complaint from any person or persons who voted for Hays Nov. 4.

"He will get that complaint," Wells said. But he declined to say whether he was working along with a group.

A contest before the House committee is not the only obstacle Alford must face before he takes his seat in the House. A group of House Democrats is working to prevent his being seated as Democrat because he opposed Hays the Democratic nominee. Alford ran as a "Democratic write-in candidate" and has said he considers himself a Democrat.

Pension Case Reversed by State Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today upheld the Pine Bluff Fireman's Relief and Pension Board's refusal to award a disability claim to a discharged fireman.

The high court's ruling overturned a decision by Jefferson Circuit Court, which had ruled in favor of David C. Hughes.

Like the pension board, the Supreme Court held that Hughes failed to meet legal requirements when he neglected to file a certificate of disability with the board.

The lower court was directed to dismiss Hughes' suit on the matter without prejudice to the plaintiff. This means he can take further action in compliance with the law regarding pensions.

In the suit, filed in August, 1957, Hughes alleged he was injured in line of duty. He asked for a court order to make the board grant his claim. The board refused to do this on ground that the applicant was injured as a result of alleged misconduct, and that he had never filed the required certificates.

The Supreme Court upheld the board on the latter point only. It did not rule on the former.

In the opinion, the high court said the board still was entitled to prove the charge if the case should be reopened.

The board contended Hughes was correctly discharged July 1, 1956, the date Hughes wanted the claim made effective.

Associate Justice Ed F. McPadden wrote the opinion.

In other action, the Supreme Court affirmed Ashley County Court by ruling that two improvement districts adjacent to Crosssett were formed properly.

The districts were formed for fire protection and installation of natural gas lines. Both projects were attacked by Emory Bellotte and other property owners.

In a unanimous opinion written by Associate Justice Paul Ward, the high court said the plaintiffs failed to prove the county court erred in approving the districts.

Steal Bulldozer, Run Through House

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Three boys who learned from an old Navy Seabee manual how to start a bulldozer, but didn't read far enough to find out how to stop it, were held on charges of grand larceny and malicious destruction of property today.

Police said the joy-riding youths leaped from the big machine when it started down hill. The bulldozer smashed through one house in which six persons were sleeping and damaged a second house with four persons in it.

Officers said the boys used a hacksaw to cut through a steel band padlocked around the starter of the bulldozer.

No one in the two houses was hurt. Names of the youths were withheld pending a hearing.

Cold Blankets North, Spreads Into South

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's coldest weather blanketed the Northeast and sent an icy chill deep into the South today. The Midwest got a brief respite from the near-zero cold and snow.

The Northeast was hit by the frigid blasts in the wake of the heavy snowstorm which swept the region over the weekend after leaving near record early season falls in the Rockies and Midwest.

Temperatures dropped below zero in northern New England and near zero in parts of New York state. One of the lowest readings was -14 at Mt. Washington N.H.

The mercury edged toward the zero mark in areas southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. The freezing line extended southward toward the mid-Gulf Coast, including northwestern Florida.

Subzero marks were in prospect from the eastern Great Lakes to the mountain regions of eastern West Virginia and through the interior sections of New England. Snow was in prospect during the day in the north Atlantic states.

After several days of cold, snow and strong winds, a warming trend developed throughout most of the Mississippi Valley, the eastern Plains and the West Great Lakes.

Communists in France Suffer Stiff Setback

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — Right-wingers waving the banner of Premier Charles de Gaulle flattened the Communists, badly trimmed moderate parties and swept to firm control of the new French National Assembly today.

The Communists held 22.9 per cent of the popular vote but captured only 10 of the 480 seats they had held in the last National Assembly in the man-to-man runoff elections in France Sunday.

Among the losers was the fiery Communist mouthpiece and orator Jacques Duclos.

Toppled like shooting gallery ducks were many of the ex-premiers, ministers and wheelwheers of the center parties—among them former Radical Premier Edgar Faure, Socialist disarmament negotiator Jules Moch, former Socialist Foreign Minister, Christian Pineau, former Socialist Algerian administrator Robert Lacoste and former Justice Minister Francois Mitterrand.

Dark-browed Jacques Soustelle became the man to watch in the new Fifth Republic. It was Soustelle who eluded police, escaped to Algeria and gave political direction to the rightist movement.

His Union for a New Republic (UNR) captured 32.1 per cent of the vote and 188 of the 480 seats from European France. Not since 1946, when Communists elected 174 deputies, has a party held such a large block of seats.

The conservative votes of 120 independent and peasant deputies, combined with the UNR's 188, gave the rightists a clear majority.

In addition, the 71 deputies having elected from Algeria and the Sahara were expected to support Soustelle.

The Socialists dropped from 95 seats in the old Assembly to 40 in the new. The Catholic Popular Republicans (MRP) from 74 to 44.

The once-strong Radical Socialists, a slightly right of center group, declined from 71 to 26 and even this remnant was split into feuding factions. One of the party's leaders, ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, was eliminated in the first round of voting last Sunday.

Diverse groups accounted for the remainder of the Assembly's strength from France.

Ten deputies were elected from overseas territories. With the 71 from Algeria and the Sahara, the Assembly will total 546.

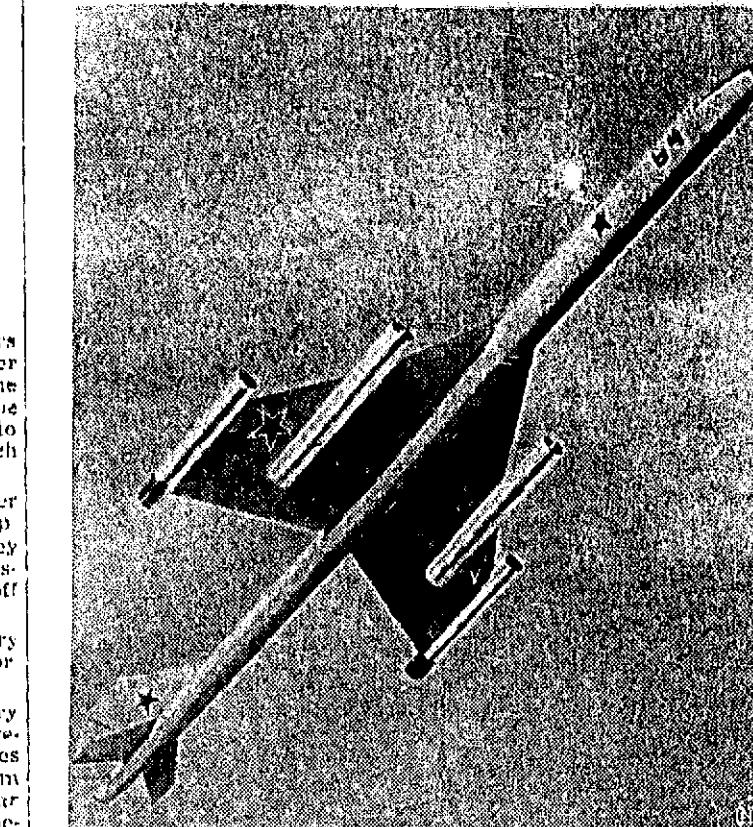

A new premier will be named after the electoral college picks a new president of France Dec. 2. De Gaulle is certain to get the presidency, but there has been some speculation that he might use his influence to keep Soustelle from the premiership.

Socialist leader Guy Mollet and MRP leader Pierre Pflimlin, both ministers of state in De Gaulle's present Cabinet, likely will head the opposition in the Assembly.

The new Assembly will meet first in January, for a short session.

The right wing sweep went far beyond the desires of De Gaulle, who refused to lend his name officially to any party or candidate in an effort to remain above politics.

He had hoped for a more balanced representation of modern France, to effect a liberal settlement of the four-year nationalist rebellion in Algeria.

Holiday Death Toll Continues to Mount

Traffic 434
Fires 48
Miscellaneous 113
Total 594

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's observance of the long Thanksgiving weekend was marred by a heavy death toll in violent accidents. As usual, traffic was the No. 1 killer.

The season's first major snowstorm was regarded as a big factor in a number of deaths on the highways. The cold weather also added to the number of violent deaths as a series of destructive fires took the lives of several persons, including many children.

Although the traffic death toll for the 102-hour period from 6 p. m. (local time) Wednesday to 6 p. m. Sunday was high, it appeared the total was below the average for a comparable period.

No preliminary estimate of the traffic death toll was made by the National Safety Council but it said that 470 deaths on the highways could be expected in a 102-hour nonholiday weekend at this time of year.

The nation's traffic toll last year was 38,500, an average of about 105 a day. The Associated Press, for comparison purposes, made a survey in a 102-hour nonholiday weekend earlier last month and counted 304 traffic deaths. Other violent deaths for the period showed 32 in fires and 121 in miscellaneous accidents, a total of 557.

The record over-all accident deaths during a four-day holiday period was 884 set at Christmas 1956. Of the total, 707 were killed in traffic accidents.

At least four states, New York, Alabama, California and Illinois, each reported 20 or more deaths on the highways. New York led all states in total violent deaths with 36. Rhode Island was the only state not reporting any violent deaths.

Inmates Connected With Fatal Stabbing

TEYARKANA, Tex. (AP) — The FBI has announced that two inmates of the federal correctional institution here were linked to the fatal stabbing Saturday of William Eugene Parker, 22, of Monroeville, Ala.

An FBI agent said a formal complaint would be filed against the pair before a U.S. commissioner today. Their names were not revealed.

Parker had served about eight months of a one-year sentence for auto theft and was due for release in February 1959.

Warden J. O. Kearney released no details of the stabbing which occurred inside the institution.

8th Grader Admits Slaying His Aunt

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y. (AP) — A stocky eighth-grader has admitted the frowning slaying of his 23-year-old aunt, mother of two children.

Police said Richard C. Mazzoli, 14, told them he killed Mrs. Mary Lou Wright, a slender brunette, "because of a sudden urge I can't explain."

The boy's father, Novie Mazzoli, brother of the slain woman, found Mrs. Wright's body late Saturday night in her basement apartment, which showed signs of a terrific battle. Her children, Robert, 11, and Michael, 3, were asleep and unharmed.

Authorities said Richard had battered Mrs. Wright with a large soda bottle, a lamp, a power paint sprayer and a large jar with an electric cord. Then, they said, he stabbed her repeatedly with a carving knife and twisted the cord around her neck.

Mrs. Wright's husband, Robert, 26, was on a weekend hunting trip. He is employed by the sanitation department of this Long Island community.

Nassau County authorities placed together this account of the slaying.

Richard visited his grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Mazzoli, 60, Saturday evening and then called on his aunt. He watched television while Mrs. Wright, dressed in a housecoat, rested in a bedroom.

She asked Richard to leave and he refused, flying into a frenzy. After the attack, he slipped from the apartment, clutching his grandmother. She had become worried when no one answered her call at the Wrights' apartment, which is beneath hers.

Richard was charged with juvenile delinquency because of his age, and was held for an arraignment today.

Ike Calls Meets on Space Age, Defense Money

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, nearing the end of his vacation, today called Washington meetings for Wednesday on vital defense and space age problems.

The President, who has been at the Augusta National Golf Club since Nov. 20, will fly back to the capital late Tuesday. The next day he will meet separately with the National Aeronautics and Space Council and the National Security Council. He will preside at a second meeting of the Security Council Thursday.

These conference plans were announced in the wake of a new pledge by the President to Communist-threatened West Berlin — a pledge that its freedom will be safeguarded by the United States.

The reaffirmation that the U.S. will meet that responsibility — shared by Britain and France — came from Eisenhower after he and Secretary of State Dulles had discussed the Berlin situation at an hour-long meeting here Sunday.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced that the Wednesday space council meeting at the White House will deal with the issue raised by a proposal by the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration, a civilian unit that take over the Army's ballistic missile agency. That would mean transfer of about 2,000 scientists to the civilian agency.

The proposal touched off a storm of Army protest when it was first made a few weeks ago. But there now are reports at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters that the controversy has been resolved — and that a decision satisfactory to both the space agency and the Army may be announced soon.

The space administration plan was for it to take over the Army Redstone Arsenal team of scientists at Huntsville, Ala. The team is headed by German-born Werner von Braun.

On the agenda at the National Security Council meetings Wednesday and Thursday will be the big question of how much to earmark for defense spending in the fiscal year starting July 1. The council also will study overall foreign aid plans, particularly whether military assistance should be curtailed in favor of greater economic aid to other nations.

After a conference with Eisenhower here last Friday, Secretary of Defense McNamara left open the possibility that defense spending next year will run about one billion dollars more than the $40,800,000,000 estimated for the year which started July 1.

Wildlife Asso. Builds Large Membership

Very few organizations still in their infancy can claim the achievements of the Hempstead County Wildlife Assn. Under the leadership of President Dub Flowers, the membership reached over 1000 in the first year.

The purpose of the organization is to help conserve and improve the game and fishing in Hempstead County. Next Thursday night officers for 1959 will be elected along with board positions where first year members drew one year terms.

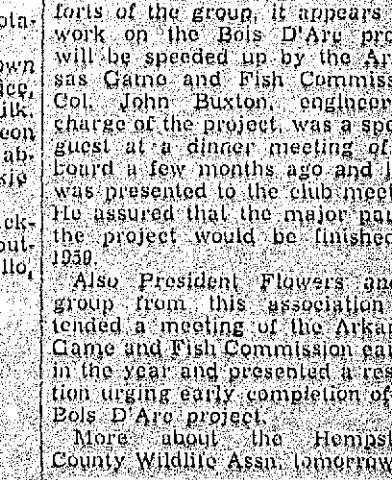

President Flowers said most of the year was devoted to building membership and forming the organization but that he was proud of the work carried out by the association.

Flowers said that, through the efforts of the group, it appears that work on the Bois D'Arc project will be speeded up by the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission. Col. John Buxton, engineer in charge of the project, was a special guest at a dinner meeting of the board a few months ago and later was presented to the club meeting. He assured that the major part of the project would be finished in 1959.

Also President Flowers and a group from this association attended a meeting of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission earlier in the year and presented a resolution urging early completion of the Bois D'Arc project.

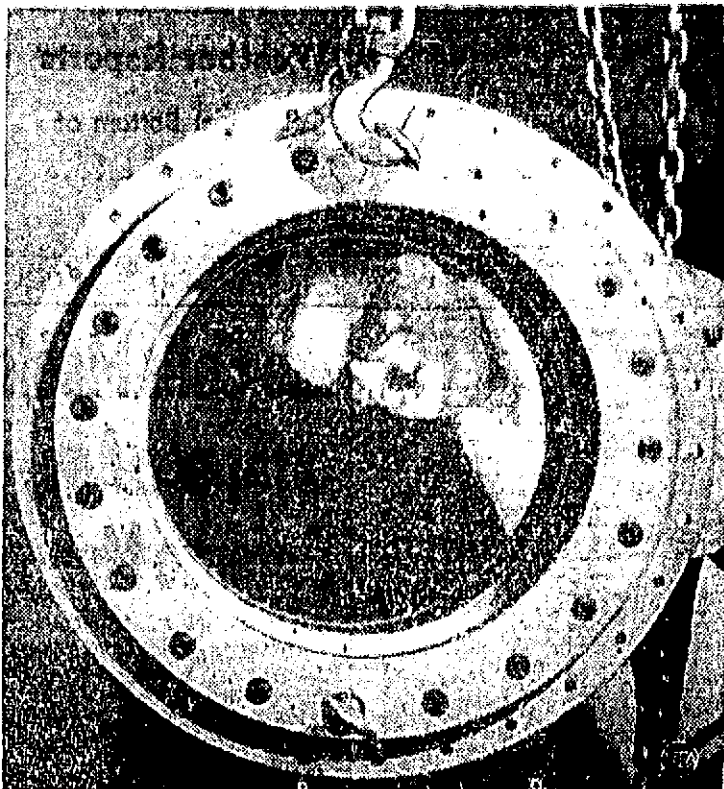

More about the Hempstead County Wildlife Assn. tomorrow.

Skeptical of Soviet Plane Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said today that he is highly skeptical of a report that the Russians are test-flying the world's first nuclear powered aircraft.

The Magazine Aviation Week published the report Sunday, saying a Russian atomic plane was completed six months ago and that it has been flying in the Moscow area for at least two months.

McElroy said if the magazine's report is true "it would be a surprise to us."

The defense boss conceded in talking to reporters that the Soviet Union might have a "slight lead" over the United States in the ultimate development of a nuclear aircraft. But, he said, there is no plan to change the aircraft program because of it.

A turbo-jet engine, designed by the General Electric Co. at Evansdale, Ohio, was powered by heat from a nuclear reactor for the first time by the United States in January, 1956. That engine has been improved considerably and tested several times since then.

American firms, Convair and Lockheed, have been working on suitable designs for an atomic airplane for several years. A decision is expected, possibly before the end of this year, as to which design will be adopted.

Aviation Week said the Russian test flights of a nuclear plane have been seen by observers from both Communist and non-Communist countries.

Collections of Sale Tax Show Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sales tax collections rose and the gasoline tax take slumped during November, Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney reported today.

Cheney said he was pleased by the increase and not disappointed about the gasoline tax drop. The month's sales tax revenue collections amounted to $4,241,342 compared to $3,999,058 a year ago. Gasoline taxes for November totaled $2,857,084 compared to $3,087,379 in November, 1957.

Cheney said he considered the sales tax a business barometer. "The collections definitely show we are bouncing back from the recession," he said.

He attributed the gasoline tax decrease to a storage factor. Standard Oil Co. put 6 1/2 million gallons in storage at Little Rock and El Dorado and paid tax on it some time ago.

That is reflected in the fact that gasoline tax collections are up by $622,891 for the first five months of the fiscal year," Cheney said. "When the gasoline is taken out of storage and is replaced then the gasoline tax probably will go up." He said he expected this increase next month.

Cheney said individual income tax payments were up but corporation payments were down.

Both general and special revenue collections were up about 1 1/2 million dollars for the period of July-November. The state collected $56,503,726 during these five months compared to $55,008,943 in 1957.

Total general and special revenues for the past November totaled $11,733 compared to $11,532,833 in the same month last year.

Blackman Named AP Bureau Chief

NEW YORK (AP)—Samuel G. Blackman, 54, chief of the New York bureau of The Associated Press, was named general news editor of the AP today.

The appointment was announced by General Manager Frank J. Starvo. Blackman succeeds Paul R. Mickelson, 59, who died 10 days ago.

Blackman, a native of Port Jervis, N. Y., has been with the AP since 1937.

He was assigned to the Lindbergh kidnap case from the night of the abduction until the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. He also covered the Moro Castle fire and the crashes of the airplanes Acron and Hindenburg.

Blackman's successor as New York bureau chief will be named later.

Won't Attend Funeral of His Parents

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Husky Lowell Lee Andrews said today he will not attend funeral services for his parents and sister whom he shot to death in a burglary-disguised plot to inherit the family farm and bank account.

Andrews, a University of Kansas sophomore, is being held on a charge of first degree murder. He calmly admitted Saturday he killed his father, W. L. Andrews, 50; his mother, Opal, 41; and his sister, Jennie Marie, 20, as they watched television Friday night in the living room of their home in suburban Wilett.

The 6-foot-2, 260 pound student, told officers his motive was to inherit the 250 acre farm and an $1,800 savings account.

Authorities planned to resume a search for the rifle and pistol the 18-year-old said he used in the killings. Young Andrews said he threw them in the Kaw River near Lawrence, site of the university, but skin divers were unable to find them Saturday. Officers said the weapons may be sunk in mud.

The bespectacled youth said he had used up funds his father gave him to cover his college expenses and needed money.

Investigating officers were not church, talked with him in his jail cell and within three hours they arrested him. The youth's young Andrews admitted the kill-

American Buys Texas Loop Clubs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Assn. today purchased the Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth franchises from the Texas League and officially became a 10-team circuit.

The announcement was made jointly by presidents Edward Doherty of the American Assn. and Dick Butler of the Texas League after separate league meetings.

The deal was contingent upon the Texas League getting eight suitable major league working agreements. This had been promised by baseball coordinator Bill DeWitt, who originated the realignment program.

DeWitt announced he would meet with Commissioner Ford Frick immediately after today's draft sessions to make the agreements final.

Doherty said Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston will meet as members of the American Assn. later to help formulate a playing schedule for the 1959 season.

Bowl-bound college football teams began pointing toward post-season games today. But one couldn't blame Louisiana State, California and Syracuse for showing more determination than the others.

LSU, the nation's only major undefeated and untied team, will make its fifth appearance in the Sugar Bowl. The Bayou Tigers have yet to win a bowl game. This will be their sixth bowl trip, fifth to the New Years clash with Clemson. LSU's opponent will be playing in the Sugar Bowl for the first time, but has a 3-2 record in other bowl competition.

California is 2-4-1 in the Rose Bowl, Iowa, the Bears' New Year's Day foe, has a 35-19 victory over Oregon State in 1957 to show for its only outing in Pasadena.

Syracuse, which meets Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, has had only one previous experience in that game. It emerged with a 61-6 pasting by Alabama in 1953. Oklahoma has won its last three in the Miami Jan. 1 game after losing to Tennessee in 1959.

This is the way the major bowl picture shapes up:

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. (7-1-1) vs. California (7-3).

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—Louisiana State (10-0) vs. Clemson (8-2).

Orange Bowl at Miami—Oklahoma (9-1) vs. Syracuse (8-1).

Cotton Bowl at Dallas—Texas Christian (8-2) vs. Air Force Academy (8-0-1).

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Florida (8-3-1) vs. Mississippi (8-2).

Among the minor bowls, Hardin Simmons (8-4) won the Border Conference title Friday and was named to oppose Wyoming (7-3). The Skyline champ, in the Sun Bowl.

Clemson earned a shot at Louisiana State by defeating Furman 36-19 Saturday. The Air Force Academy accepted a Cotton Bowl bid after winning Colorado 20-14. Mississippi blanked Mississippi State 21-0. Florida edged Miami 12-9.

Army, which grows on postseason competition, put away its first unbeaten season since 1949 by licking Navy 22-6. The Cadets, with only an Oct. 25 tie with Pittsburgh to mar their record, finished strong against the Mid.

Auburn, second to LSU in the current Associated Press rankings but banned from bowl play, played Alabama 14-8. Southern Methodist beat Texas Christian 20-13. Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State 7-0, and Notre Dame came from behind to beat Southern California 20-13.

Arkansas' Mooty Makes All-SWC

DALLAS, (AP)—Champion Texas Christian dominated the all-Southwest Conference football team selected by the coaches for the Associated Press but couldn't get a unanimous choice. The nearest was Don Floyd, the 215-pound Horned Frog tackle, who got seven of the eight votes.

There wasn't a unanimous selection from any of the other leagues either but the coaches thought who the coaches thought was the best men at all positions except one, backfield.

Jim Mooty of Arkansas was selected as a back but four men tied for the other three positions—Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, Charley Milstead of Texas A&M, Jack Spikes of Texas Christian and Marvin Lasater of Texas Christian. Thus the all-conference team will have 12 players.

Buddy Dial, the great all-around star from Rice, and John Tracey, demon-pass-receiver of Texas A&M, were picked for the end positions. J.D. Smith of Rice was paired with Floyd at tackle.

Tom Koenig of Southern Methodist and Charley Horton of Baylor were each chosen for the guards. Dale Walker of Texas Christian was selected at center.

The team is made up of six juniors and six seniors with Dial, Tracey, Smith, Horton, Koenig and Walker not returning next season.

Arkansas Dies in 3-Car Accident

DURANT, Miss. (AP)—A prominent Blytheville, Ark., couple was killed instantly in a 3-car collision on U. S. Highway 51 near here yesterday.

State Police identified the victims as F. E. Janyer, 57, and his 55-year-old wife. The Janyers 11-13-17 from Ohio, was Potter Stewart, who was recently appointed to the high bench.

PARENT-APPROVED—This is one newly introduced Christmas toy which harried mothers will view with pleasure. Instead of a screaming type it is a pick-up-er. Rubber tip of tube forces marbles inside when pressed down on them. Thus, they are stored in tube rather than on floor. Pistol grip handle is just for fun.

BRIDGE TENDER—There's a television camera on a bridge tender in Chicago. The camera is at one end of the Monroe St. bridge in Chicago. There used to be a bridge tender at each end, but with the aid of the TV camera, a single attendant is able to look at the picture screen and see if any one of a vehicle is on the bridge before raising it to let a ship through.

Three Negroes occupants of a car which collided head-on with the Janyer vehicle, suffered critical injuries, police said. They were identified as James Hening of Jackson, Tenn., and Mamie Johnson, 15, both of Durant.

State Police said a car driven by Hening was attempting to pass another vehicle, driven by James D. Dale Jr., of Durant. As Dale was slowing to turn off the highway, officers said Hening's car struck the rear fender of Dale's vehicle and careened into the path of the Janyer car.

The Janyers were returning to Blytheville after visiting a daughter, Mrs. Freeman A. Janyer, in Jackson. Mrs. Janyer was executive president of the Arkansas Red State Board.

TCU Captures Title But Loses Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chances of winning the Southwest Conference football championship without losing a game are one to four as Texas Christian found out last week when it closed out with a defeat at the hands of Southern Methodist.

The Horned Frogs clinched the title Nov. 22 and had a 5-0 record going into the last game. Southern Methodist whipped the Frogs 20-13.

Only twice in eight years has a school managed to take all six conference games.

It just goes to show how close the competition is in this wild and woolly league where upsets are considered hewing to form.

Southern Methodist gained nothing except a tie for second place. It thought it might get a chance at a bowl game but found out after the game that all bowl spots had been filled.

Rice ended the season with a 33-21 triumph over lowly Baylor and tied SMU for runner-up, each with a 4-2 record.

Other action last week saw Texas beat Texas A&M 27-0 in their annual Thanksgiving Day game. It was a game record and it also gave Humphrey the all-time mark of completions in a season. He closed out with 112. The previous record was 110.

The basketball season moves in Monday night and football will be forgotten by all except Texas Christian, which plays in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 by virtue of being the champion. The Frogs will meet Air Force Academy in the post-season classic.

Didn't Tip, May Have Been Undoing

BOSTON (AP)—Thomas H. McCarthy, 33, didn't tip a cab driver Sunday night. That may have been his undoing.

Police put on his trail by the cab driver, looked him up on suspicion of breaking and entering. They said they found his home crisscrossed with all conditioning radio and TV equipment and other articles.

They said McCarthy took the cab to a Brookline address, and the cab was later returned from an apartment house. McCarthy was charged with breaking and entering, larceny and possession of stolen property.

All numbers were of superior quality.

No child went home hampered by the dangerous burden of "I lost."

No child went home shackled by the equally dangerous chains of "I won, I'm better than you, I'm the best."

Surely, I believe, each child went home a little more poised, a little more confident and greatly encouraged by the still-sounding applause, because, to him it was his very personal reward and a symbol of his own unique accomplishment.

What could be more gratifying? What could be a more humane method of bringing out the best in youngsters? Far too many of us, I think, have the belief that only competition produces champions.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl Committee promises a tough battle between Clemson and Louisiana State on New Year's Day. But Clemson's selection to face the nation's No. 1 team has left many football fans with a seething taste.

The twice-beaten South Carolina outfit accepted a Sugar Bowl invitation Saturday after trimming outmanned Furman 38-19 for its eighth victory. LSU, unbeaten and untied and almost untied in 10 games, walked into the Sugar Bowl after clobbering Tulane 62-0 the previous Saturday.

LSU now is rated a three-touchdown favorite.

Many said Clemson can't contain the talented Bayou Bengals from Baton Rouge, considered one of football's most explosive teams in recent years.

The critics cited Clemson's defeats by South Carolina and Georgia Tech, comparatively soft touches this season. Clemson also was unimpressive against Furman last Saturday. The Atlantic Coast Conference champions had a 30-0 halftime lead but Furman pushed across three touchdowns in the second half and actually edged Clemson in first down during the game.

There were reports that the Sugar Bowl will all but selected Clemson some weeks ago. The logic behind that argument was that the Sugar Bowl was hampered by Louisiana's 1958 segregation law which required separate seating facilities for white and Negro spectators.

Secretary to Governor Gets a New Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arnold Sikes, Gov. Orval Faubus' executive secretary and campaign manager, was scheduled to take a post on the Arkansas Commerce Commission today.

Faubus said the shift was made at Sikes' request.

No replacement has been announced for Sikes, who has been the governor's chief assistant since May, 1957.

On the commerce commission, Sikes will fill the post left vacant by the resignation of William Berry. He will get a $2,000 annual increase in salary by making the change.

Sikes said the pay boost had nothing to do with his decision.

"I just asked the governor to put me somewhere that I could get a little more rest," he said. "I haven't had but four days off since the Central High School crisis started in September, over a year ago."

Faubus said Sikes had "done an excellent job and will continue to do so with the commerce commission."

A native of Spartanburg, Sikes attended the University of Arkansas and later served as superintendent of schools at Scranton and Logan county as assessor.

After Navy service he served as district revenue supervisor at Fort Smith and came to Little Rock in 1953 as a member of the tax commission.

Wells Nutt

WINNING recognition with the University of Mississippi band is Wells Nutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nutt of Crossett, formerly of Hope. Last summer the Ole Miss band was picked by the State Department to perform at the Brussels Fair and played twice daily to 100,000 persons and received a medal from the Belgian government.

The band also represented the United States the last week in August, competing with bands from all over the world in marching and concert. The Ole Miss band took first place in both senior section marching and concert. Young Nutt, a former Hope student, plays second chair clarinet in the band.

L. R. School Board Battle in Last Week

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 1 (AP)—The ballot battle of 13 "segregationists" for six Little Rock out of love since she was 12 No, not exactly. With Hope it was like opening a door into a new room, walking through it with curiosity, excitement and anticipation, and then snatching another door upon it. Father like her father, that was, Hope's mother often thought, though not Heaven forbid, with his temperamental, pursuing curiosity, pursuing excitement, however briefly, a compulsion which he had, as briefly, regretted. Hope's mother had always been happy to recall her tolerance and understanding; very consoling after she became free—not that she ever consciously thought of herself as free.

At this point Hope had asked, "Where on earth did you find him?"

Her mother told her. This young man came highly recommended by the bank in which he was employed; he knew his way about matters in which Hope's mother took an admirable interest but of which Hope knew nothing, happy in her ignorance, matters dealing with securities and investments. Mr. Peters in the upper echelons of the bank was now old and inclined to be flighty, sometimes overreaching, at other times too cautious. In Adam, those who recommended him said you had your middle ground and, at the same time, vigorous youth.

She and Adam had been married in the garden, in the early autumn, a risky season but, as the guests remarked, the weather simply would not dare to regress to midsummer. The September day was warm, the trees just lightly tinged with dark and pale colors crowded together, azalea mums glowed everywhere, late roses and sunlight.

Everyone had congratulated the bride's mother upon her unerring instinct for time and place, when less courageous women would have quailed. But she merely shrugged and remarked that it wasn't her idea. "I adore our little church. But Hope insisted. She said if she couldn't be married here, she and Adam would run off and find a garden somewhere; so, there was nothing I could do about it. I believe if it was winter she'd still demand a garden."

Someone suggested that, even in winter, there are places where you can find gardens.

"But not this one," Hope's mother had said.

Now, all the years later, Hope never worked in her garden with-out thinking of her mother's which, so far as Hope was concerned, had vanished four years ago; her mother also. All this around her was part of Hope's legacy; the garden, the house, the shade and bloom, the brook at the edge of the property, Adam had said, "Let's not go into state-ly mansions but something which will put its arms around us, yet not squeeze, a place we can lock up, leave and return to, neither a burden nor a threat."

Hope had kissed him, and after a while they went back to looking at the advertisements and Adam telephoned a real estate broker.

The money was Hope's. There was not a spectacular amount even after the big house had been sold but there was ample. They could buy the little place and Adam would see to the rest. Hope's mother, who had been very satisfied with the young man who had become her son-in-law, had seen to that.

Now Hope elevated herself from the ground and went into her house and her good little kitchen. This was the area over which Mrs. Riggs presided. She was a fair cook and a kind woman. Her predecessor had been a superb cook and a monster.

"Look at my hands," said Hope, extending them. "green thumb is right. Both."

"The Johnson boy, he's reliable. If you want on hour's help here, and there Saturdays."

"I'll ask Adam."

Hope never spoke of Adam as Mr. This or That to anyone. She didn't think of him as Mr.; she didn't think of herself as Mrs. So many people were Mr. and Mrs. She didn't even speak of him as "my husband." She had an aversion to that also.

She heard a sound at the door and she said, "He'll be home soon, Jupiter, and you know it."

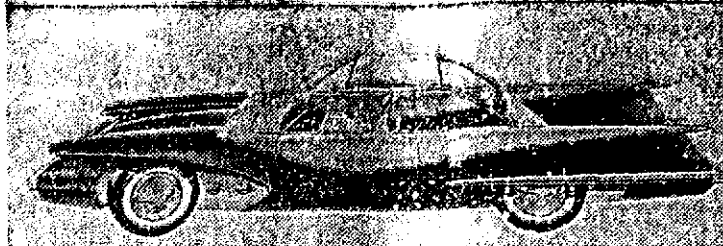

That was a crazy name for a dog, even for a wild red dog. But Adam had exclaimed when she gave him the puppy on his birthday, a couple of years ago, looking at the red-gold silk of the coat, with helpless love. "By Jupiter."

A smaller dog would have been becoming to Hope but she didn't want one. She didn't want a dog at all, she wanted Adam to have one.

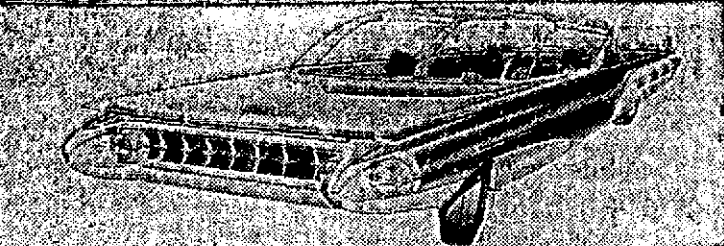

Adam would have enjoyed a child, but was not unduly disturbed because the baby which might have been born to them was not. His disturbance had all been because of her because of her illness. He had said when she was recovering, hold her hand doubled under his, as the winter sunlight crept lightly about the hospital room. "You're not to mind, Susie."

"But you do."

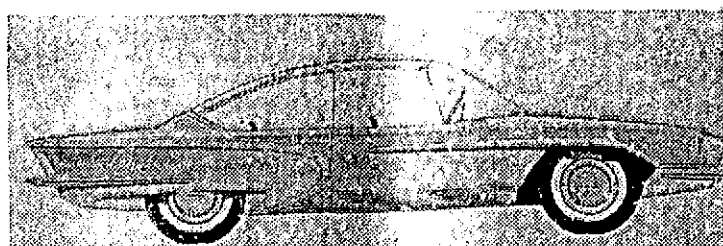

"Of course I mind the loss of his baby."

Five Members of Family Die in Wreck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five members of an Arkansas service family died in a freak truck collision near Van Buren yesterday to swell the state's violent death total to 19 for the week ending at midnight, a week which also saw six persons die in a dwelling fire at North Little Rock.

The five traffic deaths yesterday left the week's total of highway fatalities at eight, but only six of school board positions turned into its final week today as a slate of candidates picked up Capital Citizens Council backing.

The staunch segregationist group, passed over one of its former directors and ignored five candidates who announced as a slate. Its blessing went to Ed McKinley, an attorney; C. C. Bailey, a union official; Mrs. Margaret Morrison, a housewife; Robert Easter, a traffic judge; Ben D. Rowland Sr., an attorney; and Mrs. Pauline Woodson, a real estate executive.

Six school board positions which were open for the election Saturday when five board members recently resigned en masse, saying the school integration situation left them in a "hopeless, helpless, frustrating" position.

McKinley also has the backing of the long remaining board member, Dr. Dale Alford, who parlayed opposition to board integration policies into a successful write-in campaign against Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) in the Nov. 4 general election.

Alford's term is expiring and he is not seeking re-election.

The Citizens Council endorsement apparently aligned its candidates against five persons, who originally announced as a slate. These are:

Ted L. Lamb, a public relations executive, who along with Dr. George P. Branscum, former Citizens Council board member, opposes Mrs. Woodson.

Russell H. Motson Jr., a contractor, who opposes Bailey.

Mrs. Charles W. Stephens, a housewife, who opposes Easter.

W. F. Rector, insurance man and outspoken critic of Gov. Orval Faubus, who opposed Rowland.

And Everett Tucker Jr., an industrial development consultant who with John W. Clayton, an insurance man, opposes Mrs. Motson.

All candidates have spoken out for segregation, but the "slate candidate" have said more fully that they "would never initiate any action to implement or expedite integration."

Segregationist feeling among the other candidates ranges between this approach and Easter's statement that he would try to reopen the city's four high schools on a segregated basis even if it meant punishment by a federal court.

The new school board will face the same paradoxical problem as federal court orders to integrate even though Little Rock's four high schools have been closed by Faubus—that led to the resignations of the other board members.

The slate candidates, in news paper ads yesterday, said they have promised to withdraw if candidates they felt were qualified subsequently entered the race. A careful examination of the backgrounds of the other candidates convinced us we should stay in," the ads stated.

The Citizens Council endorsement took cognizance of the segregationist stands of all candidates, but a letter, prepared for mailing to council members, stated:

"Some of them are honestly prepared to carry out the will of the great majority of Little Rock voters. Others we think are trying to get into office by fooling the people."

these occurring during the long Thanksgiving week end.

Until Sgt. Wendell Shaver, 28, Mrs. Shaver, 26; Wendell Allen Shaver, 6; Barry Shaver, 3, and Cynthia Ann Shaver, 3, were crushed when a truck trailer overturned on their station wagon, Arkansas had written an enviable traffic record over a holiday period made doubly dangerous by bad weather.

W. F. Sales, 62 a Camden salesman, was killed in a truck collision near Thornton Friday. His had been the only death during a period in which 27 persons died on Arkansas highways last year. State Police had predicted eight would die this year on Thanksgiving Day alone.

The Shavers were returning to Scott Air Force Base, Ill., where Shaver was stationed, after visiting his family at Fort Smith.

State Police said a tractor-trailer truck, driven by W. E. Hall, 32, of Fort Smith, veered out of control and the trailer overturned on the Shaver vehicle, mashing it almost flat. The Shavers all died instantly.

Hall suffered minor injuries.

An 80-year-old woman and her 10-year-old grandson burned to death when fire destroyed the grandmother's home at Stamps early yesterday. The deaths which brought the week's fire total to eight. Mr. and Mrs. George Sanders and four of their five children perished in the North Little Rock fire on Thanksgiving.

Victims of the Stamps blaze were Mrs. Isabel Lincoln and James Henry Mitchell. Authorities said both were Negroes. Fire Chief Earl Brien said the boy had been regularly spending the night with his invalid grandmother.

A logging accident, a train accident and a beating accounted for the other violent deaths.

THREE FACES OF LOVE by FAITH BALDWIN

Chapter 1

Hope was conscious of her garden not only because it bloomed and was her visible achievement in making things grow but because it was, to her, symbolic. She and Adam had met in one of her mother's, which had been spacious, manicured, and about which had scented a succession of efficient, usually four, gardeners.

The encounter had taken place nearly 10 years ago, when Hope, home from an institution of learning from which she expected in due time to graduate creditably if not with honors, was walking on sedate paths looking at flowering bulbs like tangible sun or moonlight, very clouds or embroidered folded hands. She was admiring these but also wishing that in this garden there could be a wilder, less ordered growth.

Her mother had advanced with noseless majesty. She might have been short, she could have been tall, but always she carried herself so effectively that you thought of her as nine feet high and all backbone. And as she approached she spoke graciously to the young man with her. "My daughter, Hope," she said, and you would never have known that she couldn't remember his name.

Adam had looked down at Hope, and she had looked up at him, but then repeated, smiling "Hope."

"Adam," said Hope firmly. Adam had regarded his prospective fiancé and Hope's mother smiled. She often smiled, and frequently meant it, even so there was the curious effect of sunlight, bright and even, on her face, and she said, "Adam, I'm glad to meet you."
